

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to sensor compositions comprising a composite array of individual arrays, to allow for simultaneous processing of a number of samples. The invention further provides methods of 5 making and using the composite arrays. The invention further provides a hybridization chamber for use with a composite array.

09792588.024204